Habitat for Humanity of Omaha

Celebrating 30 Years of Building Community

LIFE

ARTS

How it began: Mary Lyons kept thinking something ought to be done about the dilapidated, boarded up and condemned houses she saw when she rode the bus to work at St. Vincent de Paul, located at 21st and Cuming, or walked the few blocks to weekly meetings at St. Martin de Porre's food pantry.

A solution hit her one day when she read an article about Millard Fuller and Habitat for Humanity—build new homes on a non-profit basis following the economics of Jesus. She was in her mid-twenties at the time and everyone kept telling her it couldn't be done.

Her parents, however, shared her conviction, and with their support, she and the late Delores Goodlet chose Easter Sunday 1984 to send flyers to all the churches in North Omaha and call everyone they knew looking for support to start a Habitat affiliate in Omaha. Six people showed up for their first meeting at Holy Family Church.

The first years were lean; the beginning team consisted of Mary, her parents and a few others with some local churches providing loans to keep the organization afloat. Fate smiled upon their initiative when she met Bill Barrett, an accountant she later married. He offered to do the bookkeeping so she'd have time to go out with him.

Eventually, through some contacts, she was able to move into a free office space in the Urban Housing Foundation at 24th and Lake, and found a receptionist through The Eastern Nebraska Office on Aging. With an office, someone answering the phone and her parents footing the phone bill, Mary was free to pound the pavement drumming up donors and volunteers, as well as searching for applicants to become homeowners.

Those early months were hectic and the first home took nearly two years to complete. Now in 2014—still guided by our biblical principles—we met our ambitious goal of 48 completed houses, paid for by donations and a generous, interest-free mortgage payment system designed to pool resources and finance future homes.

Today, Mary teaches at the University of Nebraska in Omaha. She still helps Habitat Omaha by being an advocate and sharing the story with her students every semester. “I bet I’ve told hundreds—maybe even thousands—of students over the years. It’s a great organization, and I’m proud to be a part of it.”

Longtime volunteers John and Bonnie Austin first encountered Habitat for Humanity when Bonnie saw an article in the Omaha World-Herald asking for volunteers to help with the renovation on a ‘nice, little house.’ Approximately 60 people responded to that call. It was raining that day, John remembers, and the house was filled with people so he left. Bonnie stayed and spent the day countersinking nails “so she’s got a year on me,” he finishes. That was in 1990.

The following year, the youth group from his church, Dundee Presbyterian, got involved and John helped them tape and mud drywall. “It was a horrible mess and I thought ‘that’s why people hire someone else to get it done,’” he said, but his drywalling skills have improved and he’s been involved ever since. Out of that came the Presbyterian Coalition, a group he volunteered with for six years and describes as “efficient and independent.”

When that dissolved, his church decided to sponsor and build their own house with the homeowner’s church, St. Andrew’s Episcopal, contributing labor. Two years later, they built another house and again the homeowner’s church, Christ Community, provided labor.

After 18 years of volunteering with Habitat Omaha, John and Bonnie started working with Habitat’s Global Village program, building homes all over the world. Their first trip was to Portugal. “It was beautiful, a nice group,” says John. They’ve gone every year since, traveling to Honduras, Costa Rica, Trinidad, Tobago and twice to Guatemala. This year they’re off to Hawaii.

“Trinidad and Tobago were interesting,” John recalls. “There was a lot of rain, but we managed to keep working somehow. We were with a group from Canada and they were well organized and committed.”

Now they are members of the Carpenter’s Crew Coalition. “I don’t lead that, but Bonnie and I usually end up leading a crew of some sort—usually the wall board crew,” he says. “In fact, I’ve been told I can’t come if I don’t bring Bonnie along because she can read plans!”

Traci's journey to homeownership started in the spring of 1999. She always wanted to own a home, but as a single parent, she felt it was just a little out of her reach.

While her Sweat Equity experience with Habitat Omaha wasn't always easy, she says it was very rewarding. "I worked side-by-side with other homeowners. I am so grateful to the volunteers who helped renovate my house and shared their building skills with me. That summer, I learned to hang dry wall, caulk windows and doors, paint, and my favorite, install siding." Even to this day, she owns a well-equipped tool box that still gets plenty of use.

By October of 1999, Traci was standing in her new home at the dedication. "I couldn't believe it. My son Jared was two years old when we moved in. I remember the freedom he had to play in our own back yard."

Traci's favorite part of their home is the front porch. "I think everyone should have one. In the summertime it's where I enjoy coffee in the mornings and visit with neighbors in the evenings. Or sometimes I just sit on my porch and contemplate life."

Traci and her son Jared have owned their Habitat home for 16 years now. Since becoming a homeowner she has been able to go back to school, and is now a registered dental hygienist. Her low monthly mortgage payments have also helped her afford the tuition for Jared's private high school education. Jared is 18 now and plans to attend college in Arizona to study sports therapy. He wants to help people with disabilities participate in sporting activities.

"We both have had so much pride in our home. We have been our own bosses in our own house. If the yard needs to be cleaned, we clean it. When the snow needs to be shoveled, we shovel. Having that ownership and pride in what we have has been a great lesson for my son who is getting ready to leave for college. That's a lesson I never could have taught Jared without homeownership."

Just like Habitat Omaha homes, our partnership with Mutual of Omaha has been built on a strong foundation. In 1997, they became the first company to fund the entire cost of a Habitat Omaha house. The Omaha-based insurance and financial services company donated $46,000 to build a two-story, four bedroom home.

Mutual's employees built the house side-by-side with other community volunteers, as well as the Habitat Omaha Partner Family who later raised five children in the home and still lives there today.

This specific effort was televised nationally when Oprah Winfrey bestowed Mutual of Omaha with the Angel Network Award on her show. Oprah's TV crew traveled to Omaha to interview the family and tour the home, which was included in the on-air segment.

The publicity resulting from Mutual's commitment raised Habitat's profile in the community, attracting more volunteers and financial support from other corporate partners. This level of community trusteeship has played a key role in our growth and capacity to serve more families in need.

Over the years, the company has provided more than 2,500 volunteers who have performed nearly every job involved with a build including painting, landscaping, weatherization and repair projects.

Today, Mutual of Omaha continues to make a difference for Habitat Omaha families. As a strong corporate building partner, they provide financial support and energized volunteers accelerating our ability to build homes and transform many more neighborhoods.

"Habitat Omaha turns houses into homes," says Dan Neary, Chairman of the Board at Mutual of Omaha. "That's why Mutual's associates are drawn to volunteer their time and talent to this outstanding organization. We're very proud of our partnership and appreciate Habitat's personal approach with each and every homeowner. Without question, Habitat Omaha has a tremendous impact by improving lives and neighborhoods resulting in a stronger community for everyone."

Hello Friends!

1984 was a special year and the start of something tremendous in Omaha. No longer could the community sit back and ignore substandard housing conditions. Volunteers and advocates joined together to create an organization that would change lives, transform neighborhoods and engage communities for years to come. What they created was a movement that would transcend generations.

In the past 30 years, Habitat Omaha has made amazing strides by offering a hand-up not a hand-out to more than 990 local families. We have progressed as an organization from scattered single-builds to transforming and rebuilding entire neighborhoods, block by block. In addition, we have expanded our services to include renovating homes, completing critical roof and exterior repairs, demolishing condemned houses, and recycling and reselling building materials at our two Habitat ReStores.

Personally, we look back over the years since Habitat Omaha was founded with pride and fond memories of our own building experiences. Knowing that we have helped build the framework for families to thrive is nothing short of rewarding.

As we celebrate this monumental milestone, we extend our most sincere gratitude to YOU: our faithful advocates, donors, volunteers and champions. Without YOU, Habitat Omaha would not be the transformative movement that it is today.

Here's to the next 30 years of building stronger families and neighborhoods together.

Thank you!

WHO IS HABITAT FOR HUMANITY OF OMAHA AND WHAT DO WE DO?

Habitat for Humanity of Omaha is a nonprofit, Christian housing ministry that works both to eliminate poverty housing and make adequate housing a matter of conscience and action. We welcome to the table partners from all backgrounds who are willing to help families in need achieve their dreams of homeownership.

WHAT WE DO

We provide a variety of programs to help low-income families become successful homeowners and improve communities. The benefits of homeownership have a significant impact not only to the families who purchase the homes, but also to the community as a whole. We have three core programs to address the housing issues in Omaha's lowest-income neighborhoods:

Our HOMEOWNERSHIP PROGRAM gives low-income families in need of decent and affordable housing the opportunity of homeownership. Our Family Partners are financially committed to the program and complete up to 350 hours of Sweat Equity before purchasing their homes. Sweat Equity involves working on the construction site as well as attending a series of classes related to financial stability, home maintenance and repairs. The goal is to create successful homeowners in the community. Every Habitat Homeowner pays 100% of the appraised value of their home through a no-interest Habitat loan and each monthly payment is used toward the construction of the next Habitat home. This program is our foundation, and since 1984, we have helped more than 400 families become homeowners.

Our ROOF AND REPAIR PROGRAM, founded in 2009, was established to answer the need to save owner-occupied properties in low-income neighborhoods. The program is two-fold: it offers no-interest loans (up to $15,000) for roofs and exterior repairs, and allows families to remain in their homes while saving the fabric of the neighborhoods.

PROJECT DEMOLITION! is an initiative that allows us to clear the titles of condemned and abandoned houses, and demolish them, making way for immediate investment into neighborhoods. The program's focus area is in East Omaha where an overwhelming number of blighted structures exist.

WHERE WE SERVE

We continue to address housing needs in impoverished areas of Northeast and Southeast Omaha, Waterloo and Washington County. Our Neighborhood Revitalization efforts are focused in these four neighborhoods: Deer Park in South Omaha, as well as Kountze Park, Pleasantview and OIC in North Omaha.
